COUNTY JAYSEE MOVE REACTION CRYSTALIZES

Jefferson, Half Moon H. S. Districts Favor Merge, South San Francisco Opposes and Sequoia Neutral

Reaction is rapidly crystalizing in this county to the contemplated expansion of the San Mateo Junior College District to include the Jefferson, South San Francisco, Half Moon Bay and Sequoia High School districts.

Reports from reliable sources indicate that a center of opposition to the merger has developed in South San Francisco. The Board of Trustees of Sequoia High School at Redwood City took no definite stand on the issue, but recommended that citizens should reserve the right to decide the question by popular vote.

Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District favor the move, as do Half Moon Bay officials, it is reported.

HEARING SET

Petitions for annexation of the four high school districts were presented to the County Board of Supervisors recently and action was taken by

Russians Execute Drunken Driver

A driver in Moscow, Russia, recently took too many drinks of vodka and drove his truck through a safety zone in front of the American Embassy, killed two pedestrians and injured eight others. A few days later the government announced that he had been executed.

Official acts like this probably go a long way toward discouraging drunken driving in the Soviet states. We're not quite so strict with drunken drivers in this country, but judges are clamping down harder on them all the time.

There are two ways to stay out of drunken driving accidents: don't drink—or don't drive. The two just don't go together. Remember this always, but particularly during the present holiday season.

DOG IN THE MANGER

One of the most vital educational propositions ever sponsored on the peninsula now confronts citizens of San Mateo County. Namely: the extension of the San Mateo Junior College to a county wide institution.

In its news columns The Record has presented to the people a true picture of the extension proposal. To build a county college will be advantageous, and will cost money which must be raised by taxation —these two conclusions are sure.

Investments in education in the past have paid large dividends. Trends indicate that a county college would bear returns in both economic and human values.

A "dog in the manger" attitude is despicable in the jaysee merge. It is alleged that certain high school districts, who are petitioned for inclusion, present opposition solely because they have personal ambitions for a junior college of their own in some far distant future.

A college located at any other point in the county other than the centrally located and easily accessible San Mateo-Burlingame district is a fallacy. The Record endorses the proposed merger and highly commends officials for their pioneering efforts in the field of education.

Fast Travel Is Necessary At Train And Bridge Terminals For Peninsula Development

Planning Advisor Hugh Pomeroy was authorized by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, Monday of this week, to continue negotiations with San Francisco in an effort to get immediate action on the rapid transit problem at down town bridge terminals.

Pomeroy said he will arrange early in January a meeting of the new board of supervisors with San Francisco's board and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in an effort to get the railroad to extend its right of way from the Third and

HEATHER FARM HORSES READY FOR HOT TILTS

By J. W. MARCHBANK

My racing string is at Santa Anita for the opening of the winter season today (Christmas Day). This is the third season of the sport down south in California's modern phase and every indication points to a highly successful session. Interest was never keener in racing up and down the coast and that counts for something.

Included in my shipment from Tanforan are six youngsters from Heather Farm that will do their first competing out on the mile oval; probably one of the band will go to the post on January 2, the day of the first two year old dash.

My older performers have been going along in a satisfactory manner this fall in the San Francisco sector and with a bit of the luck that is always an essential in the great pastime may be expected to earn their share of brackets.

I take particular pride in my colts and fillies from the circumstance I have bred them myself. Care has been exercised through the years to obtain the best blood possible and, accordingly, I merit whatever success is achieved in racing against the fleet ones from the Blue Crass of Kentucky and other sections of the country. It is my aim to rear stock able to hold its own anywhere and against all comers.

A remarkable thing about the yearlings sent to Los Angeles—these will be two years old January 1—is that unlike recent seasons King Heather, for quite a period premier stallion at Heather Farm, is not represented in the sextette, nor is imported War Cry. That is, the "King" is not sire of any of the four fillies and two geldings, but he is grandsire of three of the band through his daughters Annie D., Jane Taylor and Givanna. And it will not be long before some more War Crys are racing, as about half of the produce of 1936 are by that imported sire, and will be yearlings next week.

Four of the Santa Anita babies are by the well known Xenofol and two are by Wildair, the latter of the popular Broomstick line. I would not be surprised at all if more than one of the young ones turned out to be of the class of Justina, May Cooper, Lady Florise or others that have given Heather Farm a wide reputation. Year by year I am adding stock that promises to furnish the best kind of runners—the highly tried Sweepster, for example, had a number of most fashionably bred matrons sent to his court last season.

COLORED STREET LIGHTS FROM WILSON TO KNOWLES SPREAD XMAS CHEER THROUGHOUT CITY

Sixty-Five Local Business Men Contribute To Fund To Light Up Daly City For First Time During Xmas

More than 500 lights swing from festoons along Mission from Wilson street to Knowles avenue to spread Christmas cheer throughout Daly City. They will continue to burn every evening till New Years from 5 to 10 p. m.

The lead in this innovation was taken by the Daly City Merchants Association when a street lighting committee was appointed at the regular meeting early this month. Tony Milo, chairman, contacted all business men in the contemplated lighting area and received contributions totaling approximately $275.

Contract for the job was let to a San Francisco company for $273.90. The P. G. & E. required a $92.50 deposit for installation of meters and contemplated electric consumption.

Daly City's Citizen No. 1 assured the Merchants Association that he would provdie the deficit which will probably result.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Below are listed the local business houses and citizens who contributed toward the decorating program: Bank of America, R. C. McArthur, H. H. Smith, Milo's Market, Daly City Cut Rate, Jesse's Tonsorial Parlor, Daly City Coffee Shop, Charles Behrend, Sam Eldrup, Hellman's Bakery, Johnny Dell, Doctor Callsen, Daly City Beauty Shoppe, Thomas Jefferson Cleaners, Judge Clay, S. COUNTRY CLUB MAY SELL SITE

If Present Location Is Subdivided Move Would Net $1,000,000

One of the largest real estate deals in the history of San Mateo County loomed this week when members of the Burlingame Country Club revealed possible abandonment of the present club site and removal to the Bourn estate, near Spring Valley Lakes.

Although the land, home and contents of the well appointed estate cost over $1,000,000, it is probable that the property can be purchased for a far less amount, as it can be converted to few uses.

Appraised this week by a Burlingame realtor, value of the Bourn land was placed at $125,000 and the entire property at "less than $500,000."

It was reported that the membership of the club was apparently divided over the proposal, some desiring to retain the present location and others favoring the proposed Bourn estate site.

MOVE ADVANTAGEOUS

Proponents of the change point to the following facts in support of it:

1—Increased building of homes about the exclusive Hillsborough site of the present club as well as in-

Possible sale and removal of the exclusive Burlingame Country Club to the Bourn estate near Spring Valley Lakes was reported early this week. Real estate deal involves $2,000,000.

CO-OPERATION IN CITY

Daly City residents may be justly proud of the active co-operation among local business men which has resulted in installation of Christmas lights on Mission street for the first time in the history of our community.

Praise should go to the Merchants Association which initiated the move, to Tony Milo and his sponsoring committee for their work in carrying the plan to realization, to financial contributors, city departments and local supporters who lent whole hearted co-operation to the program.

Interesting is the fact that every business house Milo contacted in the lighting district made a financial contribution — branches of nation wide institutions and local independent merchants alike. A spirit of friendly progressiveness was met on every hand.

The glow of Christmas cheer from festoons of colored lights along Mission street again earmarks a better Daly City as a "live" community.

SWILL TRUCK PLAYS MAJOR ROLE IN FIRE

When Water Supply Proves Inadequate Fire Fighters Filch Swill Truck To Haul More

Fortunate comedy played a major role in a Colma fire, Saturday of last week, and checked what might have been a widespread conflagration. Running short of water to extinguish a gaining blaze at the Jack Whalen house on Taylor street, between Valley and A streets, fire fighters scrambled for a new supply. Hydrants were a half mile away and equipment water carriers were inadequate.

Arthur Bodien and Pete Petersen sighted an empty swill truck on Market street. To "borrow" the truck was a solution. Petersen started it, and Bodien ran 1500 gallons of water into the tank body from a near by hydrant. After the vehicle rushed to the scene, merrily slopping water, fire pumpers dropped their suctions into the new supply and played strong streams on the house.

Another wild ride of the swill truck brought a second supply of water. Again pumpers worked and the fire was extinguished.

Petersen and Bodien returned the truck to its former parking place. To carry swill will again be its common duty. However, for a day it was a hero. Jokingly, local citizens recommended the vehicle be given an honorary status as emergency Daly City fire equipment.

Colma Fire Department and Daly City Companies No. 4 and 6 functioned efficiently in extinguishing the Whalen blaze.

Reservoir Site Bought Near Park

The purchase of one acre of land on Pescadero Creek adjacent to Memorial Park as a proposed reservoir site was okehed by the Board of Supervisors, Monday of this week. Seven thousand dollars, a contribution of the county to the cost of the project, which is hoped to be a WPA job, was appropriated by the board from the land acquisition fund.

Faced by an acute shortage of water in Memorial Park, County Engineer U. S. Marshall urged immediate action on the reservoir project. A pumping plant on Pescadero Creek in the extreme easterly end of the park is also to be installed. Approximate cost of the entire job is $12,000.

BEACH LAND SOUGHT

San Mateo County Recreation Commission plans to seek state aid in buying beaches along the new Ocean Shore highway. Engineer Ronald Campbell urges the Board of Supervisors, the Planning Commission and heads of the joint highway district to join with the county recreation body in appearance before the State Highway Commission to request that when the commissioners buy right of way for the new road they also acquire the land between the road and the beach, so that private parties may not control beaches through owning slivers of littoral land.

FORMER POLICE CHIEF STRUCK BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

Officer Succumbs Shortly After Arrival At Local Hospital—Killer Escapes

John T. (Jack) Doyle, former Daly City police chief and one of the best known peace officers on the peninsula was killed by a hit-run driver, Saturday night of last week. The accident occurred on Mission near Market street in Daly City when Doyle was helping Vic Berneri, 40, Colma, across the highway.

A dark coupe, traveling south, struck both men. They were taken to Junipero Serra hospital, where Doyle succumbed a few minutes after arrival. Berneri, who was knocked under a street car by the automobile, suffered internal injuries and a brain concussion. His condition is serious, but it is expected that he will recover.

A 50 dollar reward was posted at once by Mayor Paul Selmi for the arrest and conviction of the death car driver.

WORK PROGRESS ON LOCAL STREET IS UP TO DATE

New Grades Nearly Established on San Jose Avenue —Pouring Of Curbs To Start January 1

Due to good weather conditions work on San Jose avenue has progressed steadily since it was started six weeks ago. Old curbing and sidewalks have been torn out, and street grades established in their place.

If favorable weather prevails, O. M. Paul, superintendent on the job, states that pouring of new curbs will begin by January 1. Telephone poles will be moved, and street work will start on the easterly side of San Jose avenue.

As soon as this portion of the 80 foot right of way is completed traffic will be diverted to it, and contractors will establish new grades on the upper blocks and move street car tracks several feet eastward.

FIFTEEN MEN ON JOB

Fifteen men, a steam shovel and caterpillar with bulldozer equipment are employed on the improvement.

Sewer and water piping has gone in regularly in keeping with the grading sequence.

If schedules run smoothly the $59,000 job should reach completion sometime next April.

Local Girl Runs Into Side Of Car

Suffering a fractured skull, after she ran into the side of a car near her home, Sunday of this week, Esther Morgan, eight, 625 Miriam street, was taken to Junipero Serra Hospital for treatment.

The car was driven by Emalyn M. Holland of San Diego, who was visiting here with her brother, Everett Ataghney, 117 Miriam street, police reported. Mrs. Holland was not held.

EXTENSION URGED

He said that San Francisco officials suggested that every effort possible be made to get the railroad to extend its lines and even suggested that part of the cost be borne by the taxpayers.

It was the last regular meeting of of the outgoing board of supervisors. Harmony reigned, and it was Supervisor Al Witt who urged the incoming board to continue the fight toward getting the peninsula rapid transit.

Witt said he did not believe the Southern Pacific could be induced to move its lines closer to down town San Francisco, but urged an attempt be made to get this extension.

URGES PLAN

The outgoing Daly City supervisor pointed out the link between the Third and Townsend street station and the "Plan X" terminal has been included in the San Francisco application for a federal grant for rapid transit and urged that this link be included on the ballot when rapid transit is submitted to the voters, possibly in February.

Witt praised Pomeroy for the fine work he has been doing in the interest of rapid transit. Concerning the question of San Mateo County helping finance the transit, he said he believed it was San Francisco's problem and pointed out Oakland is already taking business away from San Francisco as a result of the new bridge.

Pomeroy submitted a lengthy report concerning his meetings with the San Francisco supervisors, their proposals, and the action taken. He was granted permission to negotiate with the Southern Pacific concerning the extension of the line to Second and Howard streets.

COUNTY SEAT ISSUE

A resolution was presented to the board by the city council of Redwood City asking the board to go on record as declaring the county seat at Redwood City as permanent. No action was taken on the resolution which was primarily introduced as a result of action taken recently by the East San Mateo Improvement Club, opposing a PWA grant of $40,000 to help finance a new county office building.

Pioneer Resident Answers Last Call

Abe Franklin, a native of Daly City and pioneer resident, died at the Community Hospital, Tuesday of this week, following a lingering illness.

Since Mr. Franklin's long illness the family moved from Irvington street to Miriam street.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Martha Franklin, and four children, Mrs. H. Kalinen and Caroline, Mildred and Wilfred Franklin. He was the step father of Mrs. A. L. Wright, Harold, William and Walter Shaw.

The funder was conducted from the mortuary chapel of W. C. Lasswell & Co., Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment was in Salem Cemetery.

Regular Meeting Of Crocker PTA

On Tuesday of this week Crocker P. T. A. held the regular meeting in the assembly room of Crocker School. Final reports of the chairmen and full reports on the recent bazaar were read, and the business for the year completed.

On Friday of last week a Christmas party was held in the school for the children. Candy and dates were distributed by the committee in charge.

On Friday of last week the president, Mrs. Orvilla D. Pauw, and Mrs. Julia V. Jordan and Gertrude Walker motored to Burlingame and attended the half day session of the Seventeenth District. They later attended the luncheon and conference conducted by Mrs. J. R. Spann, Founders Day chairman of the Seventeenth District.

The officers and members of Crocker P. T. A. wish to all of their friends a most Merry Christmas and Prosperous New Year.

Royal Neighbors Christmas Party

Mrs. E. Twesten of San Diego avenue entertained the members of Vista Grande Camp, Royal Neighbors, at a Christmas party, Friday evening of last week.

Gifts were exchanged and whist was enjoyed during the evening by the following members: Mesdames Anna Welch and daughter Anita, Ana Plambeck, Lucy Nelson, Margaret Rudy, Anna Smith, Mary Rucker, Clarise Scott, Doris Burdick, Mattie Smith, Marie Thompson, Mary Welker, Mae Hopkins, Johanna Hedvall, Ruth Appleton, Lottie Lovier and daughter Alice, Agnes Wood, Grace Coolish, Cora Ray and Lillian Marshall.

Fetes Friends At Christmas Party

Miss Sally Watson of Evergreen avenue delightfully entertained a group of friends, Saturday evening of last week, at a Christmas party.

The rooms were decorated in red and green crepe paper and red berries. The evening was spent in dancing and playing games, after which a buffet supper was served to the following: Misses Marie Foster, Violet Prziborowski, Lucile Shaw and Evelyn Cemoli; Messrs. Charles Augustien, Billy Bellando, Evan Gillespie, Raymond Welsh and Mrs. J. Foster, Mrs. G. Holmberg and Mr .and Mrs. Frank Watson.

Birthday Party

Mrs. L. Burley of Winchester street was hostess at a birthday party this week, honoring her son LeRoy on his seventh birthday.

A merry afternoon was spent by the following guests, who attended the Amazon Theater after the refreshments were served: Donald Mehan, Billy Singleton, Paul and Ernest Brown, Mary Louise Burley, Eddie Boyle and LeRoy Burley.

PEGGY'S HORSE VICTOR

Victory in the recent Ashbourne hurdle race went to Roi Tondel, owned by Peggy Hopkins Joyce. It was his second win in a week.

Flying Eagle and Noce Argent, owned by Lieutenant Colonel Hodkins and Colonel G. Foljambe respectively, took second and third places in the field of eighteen.

FARM RECOVERY WILL CONTINUE DURING THE YEAR

While Income Will Increase Higher Operating Costs Also Expected

Broadened markets, due to a lessening of financial stringency in the cities and the mounting whir of new business and industry, give promise that the march toward farm recovery will continue in California during 1937—steadily and surely, but perhaps not as rapidly as the more superlative New Year's forecasts may indicate.

Although any farm prophesy is necessarily subject to all the whims of nature and fluctuating markets, plus the hazards of industrial wars at home and wars between nations abroad, the New Year looks definitely better than the old for most commodities.

In all probability, however, the price of commodities and services used in agricultural production will average a little higher during 1937, according to predictions of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics, and the farmer must expect higher operating costs to serve as a partial offset to higher income.

Wage scales, for example, are expected to rise with a continuance of the upward trend in demand for workers in non-agricultural activities. Likewise, prices paid by farmers for seed already have advanced sharply. Feed prices may be expected to soar somewhat, with farm machinery, fertilizer and building supplies also slated for price increases.

By negotiating successful raids in two elaborately furnished apartments in a swanky Washington residential section, federal authorities believe they have smashed an extensive narcotics ring in the nation's capital.

LOUISE TODD PAROLED

Louise Todd, convicted of perjury in connection wtih petitions placing the Communist party on the 1934 election ballot, was paroled from Tehechapi prison last week.

Business Index Shows Increase

Industrial Conditions Indicate November Ahead Of October And Highest Point Since July, 1931

Bank of America's index of far western business conditions for November moved ahead of the October level and reached the highest point since July, 1931, according to the current issue of the bank's Business Review.

The November, 1936, index stood at 78, a gain of 0.6 per cent over October and 7.4 per cent over November, 1935. The index at the present time stands 23.3 points, or 42.6 per cent, above the depression low of March, 1933.

California's manufacturing industries registered a 7.6 per cent gain in November employment compared with the same month in 1935. Payrolls and average weekly earnings of employes were up 17.5 per cent and 9.2 per cent compared with November a year ago. Employment and payrolls in November, 1936, were 7.8 per cent and 5.9 per cent lower than in the previous month of October.

Building permits issued in 32 representative California cities totaled $11,817,062 during November, a gain of $4,464,731, or 60.7 per cent, over 1935. Eleven month permits this year totaled $141,845,351, up $59,595,737, or 72.5 per cent, compared with the same period last year.

November retail sales of department stores in California were estimated 1.8 per cent higher than in 1935, while sales in eleven months of 1936 were about 10.3 per cent above the sales for the corresponding eleven months in 1935.

Bank debits in fifteen California cities averaged 6.5 per cent greater in November of the current year compared with last year. Debits up to December 1, 1936, were about 16.9 per cent above the 1935 debits for the same period. The November level this year was 8.3 per cent below October.

The November index of California farm prices soared to the highest level in 73 months, revealing a gain of 18 per cent over November, 1935, and an increase of 90 per cent over the low point of the depression, the Bank of America Business Review reports.

ART TEACHING IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS BENEFITS CHILD

Art Chairman Of State PTA Dissipates Idea Study Is Only A Pastime

Mrs. Clarence G. Smith, art chairman, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, elucidates as follows on the teaching and study of art:

The old fashioned idea that art was something strictly apart from everyday living and a vocation pursued by a few geniuses, has given way, in a degree, to a more modern and broad minded concept. But there is still a great deal of work to do in spreading the good news that art is now for the many rather than the few.

Even now there are a great many parents who throw up their hands in horror, especially if their child is a boy, if their offspring wishes to pursue a career of art. The attitude is that art is a fine leisure time activity, but that nobody makes any money from it.

Let us look at it from a purely monetary standpoint. In art, as in bricklaying or engineering, there are the very good, the average and the poor. Naturally, as in all vocations, many fall by the wayside. But those who do succeed make good salaries as compared to most lines of work. Cartoons, magazine covers, fashion drawings, advertisements, wall-paper, linoleum and fabric designs, jewelry, ornamental iron work and light fixtures, and even anatomical drawings of operations and designs for postage stamps, are means of livelihood for many people; the first four mentioned earning their exponents, as a rule, rather high salaries.

Now let us forget the money and look at it from a human standpoint. Someone has said that when you are being paid to do that which you love to do—that is an ideal state of affairs. Every artist loves art—so if he can earn his living, express his individuality and give something beautiful to the world, he is living a well rounded life.

The schools have long realized that art is not a fad or a frill in education, but that it has a very definite place in their curriculum. In the majority of schools in our state splendid opportunities are given the student who wants to pursue course in art.

When we of the older generation were young no art was taught in the public schools. If our parents were able to afford it we attended an art school on Saturdays. The artistically inclined who were hard up had to wait until they were quite talented. The adult education classes in art are now opening vistas of pleasure to some of these who were denied as young people.

How different the picture is now. In former days the young people who entered art school were practically beginners — now they have had, through the wonderful training afforded in our public schools, a very fine grounding in design, the use of materials, combination of colors, etc., which is invaluable to them. Moreover, it is only the ones fitted to pursue such a course who arrive at the regular art school, for there is a process of "weeding out" which goes on throughout the public school years, and any girl or boy who leaves high school to enter a regular art course will know by experience and by consultation with his teacher whether it is worth while to make such an attempt.

Art in many of the schools of California is taught from the kindergarten on through the last year of high school. The early training is of an informal nature and the child is allowed to create according to his own ideas, not those of the teacher. This method encourages his creative instinct, and in the lower grades nearly all children like to draw. As they advance it is easy to discover the ones who do not like to, and they generally drop art as soon as it is allowable.

It is safe to say that any student having graduated from high school, and havnig been singled out by the art teacher as outstanding, may well go forward into the world with the expectation of having a career successful both from an esthetic and a practical point of view. Art in its practical application to our P. T. A. program comes under the department of education.

One of the finest things a P. T. A. can do is to help underprivileged children who are talented in art. If the art chairman in her talks with the teacher has discovered such a student, try to keep him in mind. There are various ways in which one may help. One chairman found that in the art class were several students who couldn't pay, even the small amount necessary to purchase soap for carving or linoleum for block prints. When this was brought to the attention of the P. T. A., the materials were furnished by them at a very small cost.

The Student Loan Fund is made available through the sale of Life Memberships. These loans cannot be given indiscriminately, but where the need is great enough and the talent very unusual an older student may be helped to obtain such a loan to finance him through art school.

The art chairman will find, as a rule, she will be responsible for the decorations at all meetings, teas or parties. She is wise if she asks for a committee, even though she may plan the color scheme and arrangements.

And last, but not least, when it is time for the preparation of the Publicity Book, her services will also be in demand. So, taking it all in all, it would seem that art is a very interesting and important chairmanship.

Mrs. B. C. Clark, president, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, will speak over Radio Station KPO, on December 28, at 9:30 a. m. Parent-Teacher members and friends are invited to listen in.

NO FAIR FOOLING

"Alexander," said Mrs. Snooks, sweetly, "do you remember what day this is?"

"Of course, my dear," replied Mr. Snooks, pretending to have remembered all the time. "It is our wedding anniversary."

"It is no such thing," answered Mrs. Snooks icily. "It is the day you promised to nail the leg on that old kitchen table."

Daly City Youth Joins Marine Corps

James W. Sunderland, 18, son of Sergeant Wilbur Sunderland of the Daly City Police Department, has been accepted for service in the United States Marine Corps at the San Francisco recruiting station.

He was transferred to the Marine Corps Base at San Diego, California, where he will be stationed the next few months undergoing his preliminary training as a marine. Sea or foreign duty will follow the San Diego training.

Entertains Club

Daniel Dade of Winchester street entertained the members of his social club, Tuesday afternoon of this week. The youngsters trimmed a handsome Christmas tree. Each member of the club received a box of Christmas candy and a gift.

An enjoyable afternoon was spent in the Dade home. Mrs. Dade served a tasty repast at the close of the Christmas festivities.

Among those present were Patsy Clifton, Barbara and Evelyn Mullen, Ramona Martez, Paul Brown, Eddie Boyle and the host, Daniel Dade.

LOOK OUT WHEN LINE IN CENTER APPEARS WAVY

When the white line down the center of a highway begins to wriggle—watch out!

The new technique of highway marking, which has been the subject of recent experiments by highway safety experts in California, was favorably commented upon by the manager of Mission Auto Co., Chrysler-Plymouth dealer here.

"It has been demonstrated that by changing the traditional white highway dividing line to a series of wriggles as it approaches a dangerous intersection or railroad crossing that the motorist is instantly made aware that he should decrease his speed and proceed carefully.

"Inasmuch as figures reveal that 64 per cent of automobile crashes occur at night, this new type of wavy line marking serves as a highly effective warning signal and will go a long way toward reducing traffic fatalities," he declared. "Frequently in ngiht driving a motorist's eyes become so accustomed to the white stripe painted down the middle of our highways that he follows it almost unconsciously and is likely to be drawn into intersectional or railroad crossing crashes."

The manager of the Mission Auto Co. recommended that in place of the present straight line a wavy line be substituted for 200 feet on either side of important highway intersections in the vicinity of Daly City.

Entertains Delta Club Members

After luncheon all gathered around the Christmas tree, where gifts were exchanged and a delightful afternoon enjoyed.

Those present were Mrs. Adeline Cullum and daughter Joyce, Mrs. Dorathea Brush and son William Jr., Mrs. Betty Brush and son Jimmy, Mrs. Lillian Negherbon and son Robert, Mrs. Ray Antinelli and son Ray Jr., and Grace Marie Domenici.

AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

And now it's hail to 1937!

The old year is dead, long live the new! The slate is wiped clean, our sins are forgiven, and all of us may start afresh. A new beginning, a new chapter to write, a new year's dawning.

No one can peer through the veil of future time and say for sure what 1937 will bring. But at no time, at no time since recovery began, have we in America been able so joyously, so confidently to say to our fellow man, "Happy New Year!"

These better times that have come so swiftly during historic 1936 will flourish and grow brighter through the year ahead. For that you have the word of leading economists.

Few years have been so crammed with history as the one now passing. In Europe, Mussolini captured Ethiopia; the League collapsed; Italy, Germany and Japan joined hands, as did France and Russia; all-time armaments records were set; civil war ravaged Spain, and the British Empire was rocked to its roots by a royal romance and unprecedented abdication.

In America business spurted, the Supreme Court killed the AAA, the soldiers got their bonus, drought hit the Midwest, an amazing landslide re-elected a president and there was a historic peace conference; and in California we voted a record-sized ballot, had a liquor scandal, a shipping strike and the best year for farmers since 1930.

Of course, there were clouds raised in 1936, and many still hang on the horizon. But most of them are elsewhere in the world.

California and the nation are headed for big things in 1937. One can speak with a smile of confidence when he says, "and a Happy New Year!"

THE DAY OF LITTLE BUSINESS

It is often argued that the development of large businesses—especially in retail fields—has tended to destroy little businesses and to make it next to impossible for a man without vast capital to set up his own establishment.

This argument has a strong appeal—but apparent facts contradict it.

During the depression, thousands of little businesses sprang up in this country—largely because of the difficulties of individuals in finding employment. These little businesses offered specialized services, or lower prices, or were the outgrowth of a new idea of some kind. Many of them found a ready welcome, and have prospered. With the return of better times, they are going ahead—and in due course a percentage of them will become big businesses.

Some of these little businesses failed—because they provided poor service, or did not fill a definite need. But many a large business has failed for the same reasons.

One has only to look around any growing community today and see a legion of opportunities in retail lines for young men and women who are willing to work, and realize that riches can't be earned overnight. Even as changing times made necessary big business combinations to serve the public, so the evolutionary process has created a hundred opportunities for small retail businesses where one existed a generation ago.

The day of little business isn't done—it is just beginning.

DEVELOPING TALENTS

Nature in her lavish, mysterious way puts talents into the secret chambers of our being. There for an unnumbered throng they lie undisturbed till doomsday. Their presence is never revealed or even suspected. So many a man becomes, in the words of an English poet, a "mute inglorious Milton." The person, however, who is stirred by a noble unrest, who is prone to forego things that consume time but count for nothing, especially if he finds no hardship in laborious leisure hours, will bring to light the talents vouchsafed him.

He will wish to gain the best possible use of his mind. How is that to be done? For making the most of physical powers everyone knows how to proceed. Specific exercises develop needed power or skill. The same method is applicable to the mind. A good mental exercise, for example, is had when one carefully observes a set of facts or objects and then draws inferences from them. The setting for this operation is constantly arising in daily life. To make the exercise of most value one should devise some way of verifying the inferences drawn, which may often be done by consulting a book or some person. The exercise should, of course, be often repeated. To gain good habits of observing and inferring is to develop latent powers of the mind.

In both the usual and unusual rounds of life strive not to be insensible to beauties of the natural world. Furthermore, be not blind to man's achievements. Put forth effort to appreciate the best things that human genius has accomplished. A fine work of art or a great act for human betterment should not be lost on you.

Sometimes in mature life one gets out of the habit of committing things to memory. In school one commonly memorizes poetry, notable passages of prose, or selections of music. It is unfortunate if in later life one gives up this activity. A certain amount of memorizing is needed to keep the mind healthy. Without it atrophy sets in.

Beneficial, too, is anything that compels the mind to concentrate on something for a time. One way to get this exercise is through games in which the struggle for victory involves concentration. Chess, of course, is a famous example; less elaborate, but still good for the purpose, are Russian bank, bridge, and solving puzzles.

No man can develop his mental powers without having some field in which he is especially interested. Anyone who wishes to lead a healthy intellectual life will develop interests. Fortunately what he takes up is in considerable measure controlled by the will. A man first makes the acquaintance of something; if the subject is congenial, the interest will have the power to lead him on naturally and pleasurably. In that way he may come to a fine goal.

Take it all in all there is no satisfaction in life that is so lasting and so little subject to the destructive forces of fate as activity in the realm of the mind. If we build well, we shall have something there that storms cannot throw down. We shall live happily by a hearthstone in the highlands.

Lesson Sermon Of Christian Science

"He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son." These words from II John comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, December 27, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Christian Science." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you and shall be in you" (John 14: 16, 17).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "We acknowledge and adore one supreme and infinite God. We acknowledge His Son, one Christ; the Holy Ghost or divine Comforter; and man in God's image and likeness" (p. 497).

Says Competition Best Regulation

That competition has been directly responsible for approximately 70 per cent of all passenger rate reductions during the past ten years, was the statement of L. D. Jones, general manager, Pacific Greyhound, testifying in behalf of his company before the State Railroad Commission. Regulation, he said, was responsible for 30 per cent.

The Greyhound, vigorously opposing applications of the Santa Fe to engage in point-to-point bus service in California, has sought to establish through prior witnesses the theory that regulated monopoly is of greater benefit to the public than regulated competition.

Hearings have been adjourned to January 5, when Jones is expected to resume testimony.

Dog And Master

(To Pierrot)

You wag your tail
And gaze at me,
And I at you,
So dumbly true;
Each content on an old log
At the edge of the sea—
A dreaming man,
With the azure span
Of sky above—
And a dog
Avowing his love.

Western Canada's Longest Bridge To Be Ready Next Fall

The New Westminister bridge across the Fraser River, largest span in western Canada, which was built to accommodate travel from the United States, is expected to be opened to traffic by this time next year, according to an announcement by the British Columbia government.

Piers of the structure, which will cost about $3,500,000 and will be high enough to permit the passage of the largest ships up the Fraser River, are in an advanced stage of construction now and the approaches on either side of the river are nearly complete. Meanwhile the need of the bridge has been demonstrated by the continual traffic congestion on the existing span, which is considered obsolete.

Tolls will be imposed as soon as the new bridge is opened, to repay the government for the cost of building it.

Billy—I wonder why more people cry at weddings than at funerals?

Rose—I don't know unless it is because they are more uncertain.

STATE MUST BE WON OVER TO LIBERALISM

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

State of mind makes up the chief difference between the liberal and the reactionary; the liberal is willing others should have opportunities for the full enjoyment of life, while the reactionary, possessed by the demon of selfish aggrandizement, doesn't give a whoop what happens to his fellow citizens.

President Roosevelt is the foremost example of the liberal in this or any other country. His motto for years has been:

"Live and let live."

Why can't we all adopt that as our slogan, never forgetting it either in personal, political, social or economic struggle?

Symptomatic of a change coming over thousands of Americans was the speech of Congressman Hamilton Fish the other day at a meeting of the National Republican Committee. The election has converted Fish, a Republican, who is the representative in Congress from President Roosevelt's district, into a liberal; he is still a Republican, but a liberal Republican.

"Ham" Fish did not find much of a response from the backward-looking cohorts that surrounded him at the meeting and, following adjournment, he told newspapermen:

"We have only begun the fight against the party's old reactionary element; I'll carry it to the floor of Congress and keep on battling until the party is liberalized and reorganized. We're going to have leadership and policies so the millions of wage earners from New York to San Francisco, the farmers and all the middle classes of people, can come back to the great Republican party we all love.

"If the word goes out that the Republican National Committee has learned no lesson from the last election, our party perishes."

Philistines abound in California. In fact, some of the most observant students of affairs in the nation declare unqualifiedly that this state is the slowest in swinging into the liberal procession, principally because it has been keeping the anti-Roosevelt party in power year after year. As I have said before, the people are waking up to the condition of things and in the election in the fall of 1938 are sure to choose a Democrat as governor. That will be the beginning of a new era, I assure you.

There are plenty of signs that the rulers of the state, stupidly relying on the immense wealth of their backers, fail to see the changes that are coming, and coming fast. The domination in governmental affairs by vested interestes will be but a memory in a year or two. If a Hamilton Fish or two do not show up in the councils of the anti-Roosevelt party with persuasive powers sufficient to bring the leaders over to at least a modified liberalism the party will lose out as completely in the state as in the nation.

Investigations along a number of lines, such as civil liberties, railroad finance and the management of the telephone company, will be under way pretty soon and liberals are much concerned that the inquiries should be conducted in a way to promote the welfare of the people.

There are investigations and investigations. We are to see whether or not questioning by committees of Congress, the Federal Communications Commission and the Security Exchange Commission amounts to anything or will be of the useless kind.

As has been pointed out more than once, it is too dangerous for the predatory groups to prevent investigations so they proceed to systematically cripple them by more or less subtle methods.

Lines of persuasion to make the investigation abortive include inducing the investigating committee to soft-pedal certain lines of inquiry, to avoid calling certain witnesses, and to leave untouched or undeveloped certain deals.

Children Should Be Taught Safety

Parents who allow children to extend parts of their bodies out of moving vehicles are creating a distinct traffic menace, and members of the California Highway Patrol have been instructed to stop this practice, E. Raymond Cato, chief, announced recently.

Numerous cases of children waving arms and legs from open windows, or holding out handkerchiefs to see them flutter, have been reported as causing accidents.

"When children are passengers in moving motor vehicles," the patrol chief said, "they should not be allowed to reach or lean out of the windows. The danger to children is real and following motorists are confused."

MEXICO SMOOTHS WAY OF TOURIST

Courtesy And Hospitality Key For Incentive To Travelers From Without

Cutting red tape to a minimum, Mexico has now made it extremely easy for tourists to pass over the border at Laredo and roll away on their trip over the new highway to Mexico City.

Courtesy and hospitality have been adopted as watchwords by the Mexican government in its bid for tourist travel, with the result that motorists lose little time and are subjected to no unreasonable regulations at the border or elsewhere.

Tourist cards and car permits may be obtained through the office of Charles Mumm, border representative of the American Automobile Association, in the Magnolia Building, Laredo, or from a Mexican consul or in the immigration office on the Mexican side of the border. There is a fee of $3.60 Mexican money for the cards. Application must be made in person. Children under 16 years do not require a card, but are named on that of the person accompanying them.

No bond is required for taking a car into Mexico. A simple customs permit good for 90 days is issued and can be renewed for a similiar period if application is made in advance. The fee for the permit is three pesos, or about 82 cents.

Baggage is examined at the international bridge at the border while the traveler complies with immigration requirements. There is no discrimination, but tourists in general are given preference over others who require more time for clearance, such as Mexican residents returning to their country.

A special line of traffic is maintained for tourists at the border station to assure them prompt attention.

Gasoline and oil are sold in towns along the new highway by litre measure, or about one and one-half quarts. The gasoline price ranges from 6 to 8 cents a litre and oil from 18 to 20 cents.

The speed limit in Mexico is 80 kilometers per hour, equivalent to a 50-mile limit.

Better housing programs for next year are in the making today, following the return from Washington, D. C., of Clifford C. Anglim, director of the Federal Housing Administration in the Northern California district.

Anglim conferred with housing officials in the national capital and declares that the most comprehensive programs yet undertaken in behalf of the insured mortgage system will be launched shortly after the holidays.

"California is leading all states in home building," declared Anglim, "and the prospects for 1937 are most encouraging. We have been fortunate in this district in having the cooperation of builders and leading lending institutions and they have contributed much to this leadership in government insured loans."

It was pointed out that an attractive home may be built in this section and paid for under this self-liquidating mortgage system in monthly installments as low as $18.75, exclusive of taxes and insurance.

"In addition to the convenience of montnly rent-like payments, these families will be assured of better-built homes, because of government supervision and inspection of each house during the course of construction."

Anglim stated that 12,000 families in Northern California already are purchasing homes under this plan, while nationally 139,279 home mortgages had been accepted for insurance to November 21, amounting to $558,183,822.

Your Aid Needed

Traffic accident figures show that motor vehicle deaths for the first ten months of this year are one per cent higher than for the corresponding period of 1935. All signs indicate that traffic deaths for 1936 will reach an all-time high of 37,000. Nevertheless, there are a few favorable aspects to this otherwise gloomy story of injury and death.

While the number of deaths for the first ten months has increased one per cent, the amount of motor vehicle travel—measured by the gauge of gasoline consumption—has gone up 10 per cent. This means that there have been fewer deaths measured in miles traveled.

NEW 1937 LICENSE PLATES

The new automobile license plates will have orange numerals on a black background, similar to the color scheme of the 1935 plate shown here, according to (Name of local dealer), local Chrysler-Plymouth dealer. The automobile pictured is the new 1937 Chrysler Royal.

EXPERIENCED HOUSEWIFE CLUB

(By Maude Larue Ives)

The following dainty dessert was sent in by Amelia H. Lewis, one of our new members:

LEMON BUTTER

Three lemons, two ounces of butter, one pound of sugar, three eggs. Grate rind of one lemon, use juice of three. Combine all ingredients and cook until thick. Then cook. This is nice when cold in shallow patty shells or on plain crackers.

DEVILED STEAK

(From Mrs. May Davies)

Mix together one and one-half pounds ground beef, one cup canned milk, three tablespoons chopped onion, two tablespoons parsley, two teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper.

Shape into six patties, wrap patties in twelve slices bacon, two to each patty and secure bacon with tooth picks. Bake in hot (400 degree) oven for 25 minutes. Then place a piece of American cheese about two inches square on each patty and bake ten minutes longer.

WHIPPED CREAM CAKE

(From The Farmer's Wife)

One and one-half cups sugar, one-half cup butter, one cup sweet milk, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder. Rub butter and sugar to a cream and put in milk; put baking powder in with flour; whites of four eggs beaten to a stiff froth and put in last.

FILLING

Beat cream till stiff, add two tablespoons sugar and white of one well beaten egg and one cup chopped almonds.

British Firms Ban Noisy Motorcycles

Those who have urged that action should be taken to banish the shattering noise of modern motorcycles have now been rewarded.

It is announced from London that the members of the British Motor-Cycle Manufacturers Union have given an undertaking to the Ministry of Transport that no motorcycle "making a noise that could be described as offensive" will be allowed to leave their works. The only exception to this rule will be made in the case of racing and speedway cycles.

UNIT PRESIDENTS HEAR OF THINGS ACCOMPLISHED

Many Speakers Laud The Activities And Work Done By Seventeenth District

Clever greetings in verse and prose were read by 41 unit presidents at the Seventeenth District meeting, Friday of last week, in Burlingame High School Auditorium, when the accomplishments of the units were laid before the district as Christmas gifts.

Activities as reported covered child welfare in all forms. Contributions to Boy and Girl Scouts, Cubs, Y. M. C. A., Campfire Girls, Red Cross, Preventorium, County Association for Prevention of Tuberculosis, cafeterias with free hot lunches and milk to under-nourished children, glasses purchased, dentistry and nursing service supplied, transportation to hospitals for crippled children and hospitalization, baskets of clothing, food and toys for needy, books, athletic equipment, mimeographs, slides, costumes, tables, chairs, flags, shrubs and plants and money donated to schools, outfits for traffic boys, graduates and students, school and community parties, picnics, carnivals, money and clothing to the district student welfare department, and many life memberships, which furnish money for a state loan fund to needy students.

Programs and study circles stressing child psychology, health, peace, safety, school education and allied subjects are offered members at local monthly meetings.

The Christmas motif was followed through by a half hour program of carols and anthems by the district choral club and community singing of old favorites. Lighted tapers, berries and greens lent a seasonal air to the auditorium.

Mrs. W. G. Fuhr, San Mateo, character education chairman, in a Christmas message envisaged the organization as a great searchlight seeking out the forgotten child and lighting the way for understanding, security and peace.

Mrs. William J. Hayes, Burlingame, past president California Congress of Parents and Teachers, and now national chairman for the exceptional child, reminded members that the Christmas season is a good time for a mid-term checkup on under-privileged children and directed attention to the Children's Charter as a basis for child welfare work.

Frank P. Simmen, mayor of San Mateo, outlined the proposed recreational center at Coyote Point, explaining tentative plans for its creation and how voters may go about securing it.

The annual press luncheon will be held early next year, definite date to be set later. Planning this event will be Mrs. B. D. Ralston, Woodside; Mrs. J. F. Coad, Burlingame; Mrs. W. G. Fuhr, Mrs. W. H. Price and Mrs. P. F Taylorson, of San Mateo.

Mrs. J. R. Spann presided at a luncheon for unit Founders Day chairmen and presidents, following the meeting, at which plans for celebrating the fortieth anniversary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, in February, were discussed by Mrs. Elmer L. Miller, president; Mrs. Jeptha A. Wade, Mrs. W. A. Rover and Mrs. Spann, all of Burlingame.

Shortest Day Of Year Was Monday

The sun was out only nine and one-half hours Monday of this week —December 21, the shortest day of the year and the first official day of winter. The sun rose at 7:24 a. m. and set at 5:45 p. m.

Weather, this week has been unsettled and occasional showers came to several peninsula districts. Snow piled deep in the high Sierra.

40 HURT IN COLLISION

Two street cars collided in a heavy fog at New Orleans, early this week, and injured more than 40 persons.

The cars were carrying WPA workmen along the Lakefront line when the accident occurred.

Indoor Pastime Is "Shipping Cargo"

This game combines quick thinking and fast action, and those playing it must be alert if they do not wish to be counted out.

The players either sit or stand in circle formation. Then the leader starts the fun by tossing a handkerchief to another player, calling as he does so, "Ships to China." This player must catch the handkerchief and toss it to athird player with the question, "What are you sending?"

This third player catches the handkerchief and quickly names the cargo, which should be some word beginning with the letter C (for China), such as chocolate, cabbages, cornstarch, etc. The third player then throws the handkerchief to another player and calls, "Ships to China," and the game continues as before. Players who fail to produce a proper cargo, or who duplicate one already given, drop out of the game.

Sometimes the leader will change the country without warning, which, of course, means that the cargoes must all begin with a new letter. For instance, Ships to Ireland would carry indigo, iron, incubators, Indians, and so on. When this happens, even the nimble-witted ones are often caught napping. The game continues as long as desired, or until most of the players have been eliminated.

School For Gypsies In Czechoslovakia Builds Citizenship

The town council of Berehovo, a town in Southern Ruthenia, Czechoslovakia, has decided to erect a school for gypsy children on the model of the well-known gypsy school at Uzhorod.

The building is to be presented by the town and every care will be taken to make the children of the wandering race useful members of the community.

The first gypsy school at Uzhorod, also in Ruthenia, has been a considerable success. The gypsy children under the guidance of their Slovak teacher—who has a good knowledge of the Romany language—are taught all the ordinary school subjects and, besides, much attention is given to their musical education. The most favorite occupation of the school is violin playing.

Miner Strikes Gold On Stepping Stone

For years C. Hoffman, a Maldon, Victoria, miner, used a large rock as a stepping stone across a creek on his way to work. Recently as he casually glanced at it one morning he noticed what he thought were traces of gold.

He broke the stone open and then took it to the government battery, where it was treated and yielded eleven ounces of smelted gold, worth about 80 pounds sterling, or equivalent of about $400. It is many years since such a strike has been made in Maldon.

Justice For Dogs

Dogs as well as people have rights under a new traffic law effective in New York state, and a dog has already had his day in court under it—at least his case did. Animal lovers will approve the decision of Magistrate Thomas A. Aurelio of New York City, who not only fined an automobile driver $50 for hitting a dog with his car and leaving the scene of the accident without rendering assistance or reporting the accident, but also revoked his license for six months. A woman who saw the mishap reported it to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the complaint, conviction and decision followed.

"Let this be a lesson to others who hit dumb animals and leave them in the street instead of assisting them," said the judge. "A dog is man's best friend. He is as loyal as an apostle, loving as a mother, and faithful unto death."

Such judicial recognition of a dog's rights in a motor age is commendable. It ought to promote justice to dogs everywhere, whether they are protected by a law or not. The higher law of kindness should be enough.

CITY TRAFFIC SCHOOL PLAN IS HELD SUCCESS

Further evidence of success of traffic schools for drivers who violate the law is provided by steps to have San Francisco take over as a municipal function the traffic school operated in the city for the past three years.

Traffic schools to which offenders are assigned by traffic judges are in operation in most other large cities of the state, generally as a function of the city government, and plans for more such schools are in progress in various other cities.

Of the more than 2000 offenders sent to the San Francisco school in three years, barely a dozen have again appeared in traffic court. The school was established at the instance of the Traffic Law Enforcement Board, with instruction provided by the Automobile Association and clerical and other details of operation handled by WPA personnel.

The enforcement board, a non-official body, has proposed that the city now take over the school and make it a permanent feature of the traffic law enforcement program.

BRITISH RECOGNITION

Great Britain notified Italy and France, early this week, of the transformation of its legation at Addis Ababa into a consulate general.

The move means recognition in fact, though not in law, of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

Film Writer Honeymoons

Honeymooning today in Death Valley were J. P. McEvoy, 41, film writer and author, and Margaret Santry, 29, newspaperwoman and radio interviewer. The couple were married, Saturday of last week, in Las Vegas, Nevada.

GET YOUR AUTO LICENSE EARLY!

Don't forget, you who drive cars, to get your new 1937 license plates early. The State Department of Motor Vehicles will begin issuing them January 2, and you'll have until midnight of February 4 to get them. After that, you'll have to pay double.

The state is no more anxious to collect double than you are to pay. The idea is to finish this gigantic job of licensing California's more than 2,250,000 motor vehicles as expeditiously as possible.

This year, as last, the registration fee will be $3, and the "in lieu" tax, substituted a year ago for the personal property tax, will be levied on a basis of $1.75 per $100. Motorists have already received notices showing the amount of the latter, and these, together with registration certificates, must be presented when applying for new licenses.

Those ubiquitous plates, soon to be proclaiming the new year so insistently, will have orange lettering on a black background, the reverse of the 1936 color combination. Nineteen other states practice this color-reversing procedure. Only one state, Arizona, will not change, retaining black letters on copper.

As for the rest of the states—well they'll have enough varied colors to outdo a college freshman's pennant covered study, ranging from maroon to colonial blue, and including silver, old gold, emerald green, turquoise blue, ivory and canary yellow.

But about that deadline, in California, of February 4. Don't wait till then, or even a week before. Get your new license early in January. It will save trouble, and perhaps some money as well.

Contract Renewed For Colma Lights

The San Mateo Board of Supervisors at their meeting, Monday of this week, approved a bid submitted by the Pacific Gas & Electric Company to continue for a period of five years their lighting service in the Colma district.

The P. G. & E. now maintains 101 street lights in the Colma area, an unincorporated district directly south of and adjacent to the property which was annexed to the city of Daly City three years ago.

Plans In Progress For Winter Sports

Although little snow has fallen to date in the high elevations, plans for winter sports events are going merrily forward. Most of the events are planned for January and February. It is anticipated that plenty of snow will fall before the end of the year.

Colma News Notes

Miss Elva Lagomarsino of Irvington street spent a pleasant afternoon, Saturday of last week at the home of Miss Marjorie Fuchs on Station avenue.

Mrs. M. P. Brown anticipates a pleasant Christmas Day to be spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart in San Francisco.

Miss Ruth Greene of San Pedro road spent a number of days of this week at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Edith Greene in San Francisco.

Mrs. Agnes Besagno of Ninety-first street is recovering from an arm injury received, Sunday of this week, from a fall near her home. The woman received treatment, Monday of this week, at the Junipero Serra Hospital.

Mrs. Eunice Greene of Julian street, San Francisco, well known in Colma, became the victim of a hit run driver, Friday of last week, when she attempted to cross the highway at San Bruno. Mrs. Greene was given emergency treatment at a South San Francisco hospital for body and head injuries and a fractured left arm and was later transferred to the Junipero Serra Hospital.

An increase of 25 per cent in Red Cross enrollment over last year was reported by Mrs. M. P. Brown of Washington street, who is captain of the Colma district.

Miss Julia Parker of Colma is reported recovering satisfactorily from a leg infection for which she has been receiving treatment at the Junipero Serra Hospital.

The pupils of the Jefferson Grammar School have shown their appreciation for the new equipment installed in their library last August by being 100 per cent in their care and prompt returning of books.

Patrick Garrent, employed at a Colma used car company, received a broken leg, Saturday of this week, when he was struck by a hit run automobile at Citrus and Mission streets. Brought in an ambulance to the Villa Sanatorium for emergency treatment, Garrent was then transferred to St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco.

Officers of the Colma Parent Teachers Association will hold an executive board meeting, Tuesday afternoon of next week, at the home of Mrs. J. J. Grondona for the purpose of outlining plans for the next meeting to be held in January.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Remington and family of Railroad avenue plan to spend the Christmas holidays with relatives in Santa Cruz.

Paul Camenzind of Bryant street motored to Calistoga, Monday of this week, where he spent the day.

Muriel Muffley of the Mission Auto Court was treated at the Villa Sanatorium, Sunday of this week, for scalp wounds and abrasion of the chin, said to have been inflicted by an unknown assailant who held up and robbed the man on Mission street near the auto court.

Annual Firemen's Banquet Held

Members of the Colma Volunteer Fire Department and their friends were feted at a yearly banquet held, Saturday evening of last week, at Jefferson Hall.

George Augustien, trustee of the Jefferson School District, acted as toastmaster with Pete Valenti and A. Conserva heading the banquet committee.

Principal speakers of the evening included Supervisor Al Witt, Justice of the Peace W. H. Clay, Trustee W. J. Sweeney, Superintendent of Schools R. L. Crane, Chief A. P. Chesney of Daly City and Mr. Christie, a representative of the Rio Grande Oil Company.

Children Enjoy Christmas Party

Pupils of Miss Campana's class enjoyed a Christmas party, Friday afternoon of last week, at the Jefferson Grammar School. The room was decorated in gay Christmas colors and the children enjoyed a repast of hot dogs, sandwiches and ice cream.

Good Duck Shooting In Marin County

Duck shooting, in spite of the dry weather, has been better in Marin County this season than for several seasons, according to recent reports. Quail hunting has been poor; most of the birds are staying near the bushy canyons where there is water.

Abalone fishing is fine. Those who braved the cold on the last minus tides got limits of large red ones.

CAMP BURNS IN NEVADA

Manhattan, one of the largest and most famous of early Nevada mining camps, was swept by fire early this week. The hotel, cafe and a frame house were razed. Fire fighters using a bucket brigade were hampered by lack of water.

LEGISLATORS MEET

Summons are in the mail this week requesting Republican members of the 1937 California Legislature to meet in Sacramento on January 3 for a pre-session caucus to consider organization of the Assembly and development of a party program.

Replacements Soon To Be Made

Tentative plans are now being made for the regular enrollment period for the Civilian Conservation Corps to begin January 1, 1937.

A limited number of replacements will be assigned to all California counties.

New and exceptionally valuable educational programs have been added to the already rather complete list of educational and vocational courses.

It is interesting to note that while the study and training classes are entirely optional with the enrollee, many camps report an 80 to 90 per cent registration for one or more courses. The Diesel engine, aeronautics, forestry, typing and stenographic courses receive the greatest number of registrations.

Many instances have been reported of former enrollees obtaining fine positions because of the training received in CCC camps.

Miss Mary E. Fisher, located at the State Relief Administration office, 703 Middlefield road, Redwood City, is the CCC selecting agent for San Mateo County and complete information can be obtained from her.

Change Name To Los Padres Forest

Change of the name of the Santa Barbara National Forest to "Los Padres" became official when President Roosevelt signed the executive order recently. This will settle an argument among the six counties concerned (Los Angeles, Kern, Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo and Monterey), carried on since President Theodore Roosevelt, in 1903, renamed the Santa Ynez and Pine Mountain and Zaca Lake Forest Reserves the Santa Barbara National Forest.

Agreement was finally reached among various chambers of commerce and county boards of supervisors to a name commemorating the work of the Mission Fathers, many of whose churches are found in Los Padres National Forest from Santa Barbara to Monterery. Both San Luis Obispo and Monterey Counties formerly had separate national forest units named after them. The San Luis Forest became part of the Santa Barbara in 1910 and the Monterey was made a ranger district of that forest in 1919. Since then it has been felt that the name "Santa Barbara" did not truly represent the two million acres of land embraced in the national forest.

Los Padres National Forest will be a historic reminder of eight missions within or near its boundaries: San Buenaventura, Santa Barbara, Santa Ynez, Purissima, San Luis Obispo, San Miguel, San Antonio de Padua and the famous San Carlos at Carmel.

STORK FINALLY ARRIVES

Letterman Hospital officials reported, Monday of this week, that the stork finally arrived, bringing Mrs. Arthur Westman, wife of a Monterery Presidio corporal, a seven pound baby girl.

That stork made newspaper headlines several days previous when Mrs. Westman thought she was going to give birth to her child while crossing the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge.

FIRE AT MERCED

Sweeping through the Strand Theater and Burk's Restaurant, during the early morning hours, Saturday of last week, a fire of unknown origin left damages at Merced totaling $110,000.

HOME FOR XMAS

U. S. Ambassador to Mexico Josephus Daniels returned, early this week, to his home in North Carolina to spend the holidays.

Accompanied by Mrs. Daniels, the ambassador went to Washington day before yesterday for a conference with President Roosevelt.

HEALTH DEPT. EXTERMINATES RODENTS HERE

County Director Points Out The Advantages Of War On Rats

San Mateo County this week had chalked up 50,000 casualities in a gas war that has been waged quietly during the past year. The casualities were rats.

In a report today on the activities of rat extermination on county hog ranches, Dr. Charles C. Gans, county director of health and welfare, revealed the huge number of rodents wiped out in his gas war, the increased public health safety as the result, and the marked saving to hog ranchers by having the rats destroyed.

Since April 1 Doctor Gans has directed an intensive campaign for the cleaning up of hog ranches, an important part of which was the destruction of rats attracted to the ranches. He pointed out that rats are dangerous disease carriers and when his campaign began plague any day could have broken out in the county, with the possibility of disastrous results, because of the thousands of rodents that inhabited the hog ranches.

"Extermination of 50,000 rats in less than a year," Doctor Gans said, "is a formidable step in removing a grave health menace from the county. Rats are notorious plague carriers, and with thousands of them running at large anything could happen in the way of a tragic epidemic.

"Not only has the gassing of these rats in their nests greatly advanced the security of San Mateo County health, but it has meant a saving of nearly $15,000 a year to hog ranchers. Skimming the surface of statistics lightly, we find a full-grown rat eats about eight ounces of food a day, or 180 pounds a year. Now the cheapest hog food obtainable is swill, which costs $3 a ton, so on this basis alone it costs about 27 cents a year to feed a rat. You can readily figure the cost of keeping more than 50,000 of them alive.

"In addition to this you can add the costs of damages done to grain, sacks and crops by such an army of rodents. The health department's hog ranch work is one of the most effective campaigns ever launched for the improvement of county health conditions, to say nothing of its economic advantages."

Election At Large Stands In County

The Supreme Court, Friday of last week, virtually upheld the election at large clause of the county charter and denied Board Chairman Manuel Francis a rehearing of his petition for a mandate writ to compel the board to declare him elected.

John E. Manders, attorney for Francis, declared that efforts to obtain a court test of the charter amendment's legality by mandate proceedings are "all through." The board has declared Alvin Hatch, successor to Francis, elected.

TRAIN WRECKED

Charges of vandalism were being investigated by railroad officials at McCombs, Alabama, this week, in connection with the derailment of a Central of Georgia train. Forty passengers were injured in the wreck. Nineteen persons were in hospitals, three in critical condition.

NEW POSTMASTER

If Postmaster General James A. Farley retires from the cabinet, a likely successor has been advanced in Frank C. Walker, wealthy theater operator and former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

Plan To Extend Hetchy Service

Tentative plans were disclosed, Friday of last week, to extend Hetch Heachy water service into southern San Mateo County and northern Santa Clara County. A 36 main, running south along El Camino Real to serve communities from Atherton to Sunnyvale, is recommended, providing the demand in that area warrants such extension.

As proposed by the engineering department of San Francisco, following a survey of possible outlets for the sale of its excess supply, the main would intercept the 60 inch Hetchy Hetchy arterial at the valve house on El Camino Real near Redwood City, and would parallel the highway as far south as necessary.

Sidetaps would be taken off at Atherton, Menlo Park, and University and California avenues in Palo Alto. At a moderate cost Stanford University could install its own feeder line to the main, and if the demand from the communities in the Sunnyvale and Los Altos areas was sufficient, it could be extended to these points.

No formal proposal has been made in Palo Alto concerning the plan, but the engineering department there has been considering it as an alternate to a contemplated connection with the Hetch Hetchy mains near Dumbarton point.

It is suggested that the $110,000 in PWA funds and city bonds which Palo Alto may invest in the Dumbarton link could be set aside as its share in the underwriting of the El Camino Real main.

Engineers of Stanford University, the Veterans' Administration Facility, St. Patrick's Seminary and Moffett Field have approved the soundness of the plan, according to Sullivan.

As conceived by the San Francisco water department, the proposed system would connect with the Hetch Hetchy network at two points—the 60 inch main at Five Points and also with the 30 inch gravity pipe from Crystal Springs reservoir.

New Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Colombo Benedetti of Clara street became the proud parents of a daughter, Carol Ann, Friday morning of last week. Both mother and daughter are doing nicely at the Junipero Serra Hospital.

creased traffic on nearby El Camino Real have robbed it of some of its desired exclusiveness.

2—The Bourn estate can be secured cheaply enough to make the deal desirable financially and the estate is sufficiently sequestered.

3—The present Burlingame club property has so enhanced in value from a real estate standpoint that a handsome price can be realized.

4—Possible extension of the Junipero Serra boulevard through the present Burlingame club course, and the consequent elimination of part of that course, might force abandonment of the present site in the future.

It was expected Item No. 4 would be "used" as a club to swing the deal, although according to highway officials no plans for the extension of Junipero Serra boulevard past the Northern Burlingame city limits have yet been made.

EARLY LANDMARK

The Burlingame Country Club is one of the earliest local landmarks and was established in September, 1893, one-quarter of a mile west of the Hillsborough City Hall on El Camino Real and Floribunda road.

Local realtors have valued the property at approximately $10,000 per acre to a real estate subdivider. This would bring the value of the land alone to approximately $1,150,000, exclusive of the pretentious clubhouse.

It was declared a real estate operator could split the property into three lots to the acre, each lot containing some 15,000 square feet and each to sell at approximately $5,000.

The club would realize a gain of probably over $1,000,000 if the Bourn estate is purchased for a new site at less than $500,000.

COUNTY JAYSEE MOVE REACTION CRYSTALIZES

setting January 11 as a date for a public hearing on the proposal.

Providing there are no protests submitted at this hearing (such protests must be made in the form of petitions signed by 20 per cent of the registered voters in the protesting district) the four high school districts will be annexed and become a portion of the Junior College District.

Petitions are expected from the South San Francisco and Sequoia districts. If they contain a sufficient number of signatures elections will be held in these areas to decide the issue.

ADVANTAGES

Advantages of the merger, as pointed out by junior college officials, fall under two headings:

1. LESS COST TO TAXPAYER

A. Avoids duplication of auditorium, administration offices, library, science laboratories, art and musical rooms, shops, play fields and expensive equipment.

B. Avoids duplication of administration officers.

C. Costs are lower for each student because larger classes fill up rooms and use equipment to capacity.

2. BETTER EDUCATION

A. Larger enrollment permits the teaching of a greater variety of such subjects as technical shop courses, agriculture, horticulture, floriculture, nursing, home making, etc. The subject matter can be adapted to the needs of the people—young and old—of the county.

B. Better instruction is possible—the larger college can employ and retain more experienced and more capable teachers.

C. The people of the county, through their trustees, can have a part in determining how the college is to serve the whole county.

BUILDING PROGRAM

An extensive building program is proposed by the college if the county merger is effected. Such a program, of course, will cost the county a considerable sum of money, which must be raised through taxation.

The merger and building program will result in a tax increase. However, every taxpayer in the county will have representation through his own board of trustees in the tentative building program. This representation will virtually keep the "little man's" hands on his purse strings.

American Legion Auxiliary Meeting

On Wednesday of last week Daly City Unit No. 410, American Legion Auxiliary, held the regular meeting in Legion Hall. Reports of chairmen, special committees and routine business filled the fore part of the evening, after which the social committee served refreshments.

The social hour was dedicated to the president, Mrs. Mary Crane, in honor of her birthday. She received gifts and a beautiful bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Mrs. Margaret Miller and Mrs. Mary White, whose birthdays also fall in December, were also honored. Refreshments were served at tables beautifully decorated in pastel colors.

On Saturday of last week the annual County Fair was held in Legion Hall. Fancy work, home cooked foods and candy were sold during the day, and in the evening dancing and games entertained the members and their friends. President Mary Crane and the chairmen of the various booths wish at this time to thank all those who made this affair a success.

On Tuesday of this week a Christmas tree party was held for the children of the Post and Unit. Candy and toys were distributed. A short program was enjoyed by those present, after which refreshments were served to the children and their parents.

Christmas Service In Local Church

Grace Presbyterian Church will conduct a Christmas service on Friday morning at 10 o'clock. The people of the community are cordially invited to attend and the hour, being set for 10 a. m., will suit most people. The service will last just one hour and will close promptly at 11. The theme of the sermon for Sunday morning is, "Hitherto hath the Lord Helped us."

In the evening, at 7:45 p. m. "Chosen" is the subject of the sermon.
